

A Study on Development and Function of the Constitutional and Administrative Litigation System in Korea

Masanori, OKADA
Myeong Ho, Ha

1. Introduction
2. Development of Constitutional Litigation System and the Constitutional Court in Korea
3. Development of Administrative Litigation System in Korea
4. Competitive and Contradictive Relation between the Supreme Court (Administrative Court System) and the Constitutional Court
5. Concluding Remarks

In this article we give an outline of development of constitutional and administrative litigation systems in Korea and then analyze their influences on Korean society, legal practice, and legal theories. According to our analysis, those influences are evaluated positively in general, but nowadays contradiction between two systems is also revealed. It is necessary for Korean constitutional and administrative litigation systems to find legislative solution to problems of jurisdiction and contradictive legal interpretation of two highest courts.